- The FCA framework consists of three 'Pillars':

- Pillar 1: Minimum capital requirements that companies need to retain to meet their credit, market and operational risk.
- Pillar 2: Supervisory review process: the need to assess whether the capital held under Pillar 1 is sufficient to meet the additional risks not covered by Pillar 1
- Pillar 3: requires companies to develop a set of disclosures which will allow market participants to assess key information about its underlying risks, risk management controls and capital position. These disclosures are seen as complimentary to Pillar 1 and Pillar 2.

Risk Management

The directors of the firm, in addition to the risk mapping structure of the ICAAP, are very much involved with the day to day running of the firm including the continual assessment of risk. They meet on a regular basis to discuss current projections for profitability, regulatory capital management, business planning and risk management. The directors manage the firm's risks through a framework of policy and procedures having regard to relevant laws, standards, principles and rules (including FCA principles and rules) with the aim to operate a defined and transparent risk management framework. These policies and procedures are updated as required.

The firm is relatively small with an operational infrastructure appropriate to its size.

The ICAAP has identified the most significant risk types to which CF Global Trading (UK) Ltd to be as follows:

- Operational Risk:

This is the risk associated with inadequate, or the failure of, internal processes or external factors such as regulation.

There is a risk that a client or broker may have a dispute over the execution or non execution of an order resulting in an error. This is mitigated by a large errors and omissions insurance policy and constantly reviewed systems and procedures to help remove the likelihood of any error occurring in the first place.

There is a risk that certain key performers could leave the company, leading to reduced income. This is mitigated by a bonus related pay structure and potential membership being offered to certain key personnel.

There is a risk that the key IT systems could fail. This is mitigated by a robust Business Continuity Plan involving battery backup systems, automated telephone switching systems and home set ups.

- Concentration Risk

This is the risk that CF Global has too much reliance on too few clients.

The risk of CF Global losing some of their top ten producers is mitigated by the fact that no individual client is fundamental to the ongoing success of the company. The markets the firm is involved in are also diverse and, as such, there is no market concentration risk aspect.
